

HELP YOUR PET HAVE A STRESS-FREE BONFIRE NIGHT

- Make sure both dogs and cats have a place to hide if they are frightened. Don't force them out of their hiding place - it will only cause them more stress
- Close the windows and curtains and turn on some music
- If your pet is not hiding, initiate play to distract them
- If your pet is particularly nervous, pay a visit to your vet to see if anti-anxiety medication could help.
- Don't forget small animals - if they live outside, partly cover cages, pens and aviaries with blankets so that one area is well sound-proofed.

Please keep your pets inside during times when fireworks may be set off. On Bonfire Night, 35% more dogs and 22% more cats are reported missing than on any other night of the year.

WWW.ROLYPOLY.ORG.UK

Sources: RSPCA. Sunninghill Vet , Agria Pet Insurance

